

Instructor's Guide Quick Start

The BookShark™ Instructor's Guide (IG) is designed to make your educational experience as easy as possible. We have carefully organized the materials to help you and your children get the most out of the subjects covered. If you need help reading your schedule, see "How to Use the Schedule" in Section Four.

This IG includes a 36-week schedule, notes, assignments, readings, and other educational activities. See Section Three for specific organizational tips, topics and skills addressed, the timeline figure schedule, and other suggestions for the parent/teacher. Here are some helpful features that you can expect from your IG.

Easy to use

Everything you need is located right after the schedule each week. If a note appears about a concept in a book, it's easy to find it right after the schedule based on the day the relevant reading is scheduled.

Maps

Colorful map answer keys, which double as bookmarks, will help you easily find relevant map locations. You will find the coordinates and the location name in your notes.

4-Day Schedule

Designed to save one day a week for music lessons, sports, field trips, co-ops or other extra-curricular activities.

To Discuss After You Read

These sections help you hone in on the basics of a book so you can easily know if your children comprehend the material.

To Discuss After You Read

- When Henry brings food home for his siblings, the author describes the food by its color—i.e., brown bread and yellow cheese; can you think of four foods that are made more specific by describing their color?
- ▲ suggestions: white and dark meat (chicken); green beans/ yellow beans; yellow tomatoes; yellow squash; dark orphan: a child whose parents are dead.

Vocabulary

children's home: an orphanage.

Vocabulary

This section includes terms related to cultural literacy and general vocabulary words in one easy-to-find place.

Notes

When relevant, you'll find notes about specific books to help you know why we've selected a particular resource and what we hope your children will learn from reading it. Keep an eye on these notes to also provide you with insights on more difficult concepts or content (look for "Note to Mom or Dad").

Note: The Yangtze River is the third longest river in the world. The author talks about "the yellow waters of the Yangtze river." The river carries an enormous amount of silt from higher elevation in Western China. It drops the silt on the central plains which creates good soil for rice planting. In 2010, the Chinese government completed the Three Gorges Dam across the Yangtze, the world's largest dam. It generates electricity and will hopefully cut down on flooding. To build it, the government moved 1.2 million people.

Notes

Week 1

Day 1

History/Geography

Reading the History Books Aloud

We encourage you to use the narration method, at least through the 8th grade level, helping your children focus and retain the history material. Narration differs from the classroom method of testing random ideas, and may seem strange at first, but we have no doubt you'll come to appreciate it.

In the narration method, you'll read the history books together, and then have your children tell you what they remember from the reading. Enjoy hearing all your children grasped!

With narration, children will remember more than a worksheet can test, because they have to listen intently if they are to have enough material to record three to five sentences about what they learned. We recommend keeping notes of all they have read about in a separate notebook. It will be helpful to have written records of the things they—and you—have learned.

The Usborne Book of Peoples of the World* | pp. 2–3

Rationale: We carry this book because we find the organization and content to be very helpful to your student's studies of world cultures, introducing the various aspects of people's lives (such as language, food, entertainment) and giving examples from different people groups in context.

Since the publishing of this book, scientists have studied the human genome and have been unable to find genetic evidence supporting the idea that there are four biologically different races within the human species. Rather, they've found that there is a very large amount of genetic diversity even within those "races" and that there is often not much of a difference between peoples of different heritage.<sup>1</sup>

Instead of teaching the outdated terms (on pages 5 and 14) "Mongoloid", "Australoid", "Negroid", and "Caucasoid" to your student, we recommend telling your student that people can look different based on where their ancestors came from. Throughout this book, allow your child to notice the differences in how people look, but also encourage them to celebrate those differences and to find similarities between those other people and themselves.

If you would prefer, you may consider skipping the top half of page 5 and focusing on the bottom half. Or if you feel that your child is ready to learn about race, use this as a history lesson and read through the full paragraph so you can talk with them about how races were described in the past, and some of the social consequences of it.

To make sure your children are listening as well as you'd like, after reading each day, have your children tell you what they thought was the most interesting thing they heard. For example, are they surprised at how many languages there are or would they like to start a coin collection?

Note to Mom or Dad: Please note The Usborne Book of Peoples of the World contains pictures of people who are rather under dressed by Western standards, most specifically on pp. 4, 13, 16 and 19. If your children are sensitive to this, we recommend you look through the book and consider how you might want to handle these illustrations before you read it with your children or let them look at the book on their own. Some parents choose to draw extra clothes on the various peoples.

Read-Alouds

Read-Alouds are quality literary works you read to your children. Among all their many qualities, Read-Alouds:

- introduce your children to great literature beyond their personal reading capacity. We have classified most of our Read-Alouds as such (rather than as Readers) because they require greater reading skill than most students at the specific level have normally acquired.
- develop a life-long love of reading. When you read great literature to your children, it creates a thirst to read. They'll begin to think, "I love books! One day I'm going to read books like this!"
- expand your children's vocabulary.
- build important listening skills—including the ability to visualize the meaning of spoken words.
- develop an "ear" for good oral reading.
- develop oral reading skills. Having heard quality oral reading done by you, your children will imitate you.
- give you and your children a context for sharing mutually significant times together.

1. <http://sitn.hms.harvard.edu/flash/2017/science-genetics-reshaping-race-debate-21st-century/>

Read-Alouds differ from Readers in that they require deeper understanding of “the way things are”—in life in general or in a specific area. Others are emotionally charged enough that we figure you ought to be “right there” to help debrief your children.

And then there are those books we’ve classified as Read-Alouds simply because they’re too good to let your children enjoy by themselves. We know you’d feel cheated if you weren’t in on the adventure.

Vocabulary Development

We have incorporated “natural language learning”-oriented vocabulary development exercises in the Read-Aloud notes. These vocabulary words correspond with the day’s Read-Aloud assignment, pulled from the reading and clarified. More general vocabulary development can be found in BookShark’s Language Arts programs.

How to Teach Vocabulary: Find the vocabulary words in bold type in a sentence. Read the sentence to your children and see if they can define the word. If they don’t know, just explain what the word means to your children. For words that are in bold type followed by a colon, define the word for your children as you read the book aloud.

Example:

Vocabulary
 ... Night came down quickly over the equatorial forest ... (a rainforest near the equator)
 ***
Hibernation: when animals spend the winter sleeping.

Charlotte’s Web | Chapters 1–2

Explain that the chapter numbers are Roman numerals and have your children read the numbers.

Vocabulary

“He’s yours,” said Mr. Arable. “Saved from an untimely death.” (a death that is too early) [chap. 1]

***

runt: a small, weak animal that requires much extra work, therefore farmers usually kill them. [chap. 1]

To Discuss After You Read

Q: What does the father mean when he says, “Fern is ... trying to rid the world of injustice”? [chap. 1]

A: this injustice is killing baby animals that are too small, something they have no control over

Q: Harrisburg is the capital of Pennsylvania, What is the capital of your state? What is the capital of your country? [chap. 1]

A: answers will vary

Q: Why did Wilbur have to be sold? [chap. 2]

A: he was getting too big and needed too much food

Timeline and Map Activities

Note: Please refer to Section Four for instructions on how to complete the Timeline and Map Activities. In addition, please read “Why You Will Find Contradictions in History” in Section Three.

Harrisburg, Pennsylvania (D10) (map 4) [chap. 1]

Favorite Poems of Childhood | “The Land of Nod” p. 1

Rationale: It takes practice to read poetry correctly. Except when reading nursery rhymes and silly songs, avoid letting the rhyme control your reading pattern. Rather, you should read a poem for its sense: as if it were prose. Though this may feel a little awkward at first, you will find that it yields great benefits for the listener. Despite the initial feelings of awkwardness, the beauty of the language, the cadence, and the rhyme will all come through.

Day 2

History/Geography

The Usborne Book of Peoples of the World | p. 5

Note: Please see the note on Day 1 for information on how to address the outdated terms on this page.

Remind your children that some people groups even today hunt and gather their food. And like the Native Americans, they choose to form their clothes from skins rather than spin cloth.

To Discuss After You Read

Q: Describe one invention or skill people developed early in their history.

Read-Alouds

Charlotte’s Web | Chapter 3

Vocabulary

hullabaloo: a loud noise or uproar.

slops: inedible human food, left-overs that make great pig food; the word slops is also onomatopoeic [on-o-MAH-toe-poe-AY-ic]: i.e., it sounds like what it means.

To Discuss After You Read

Q: Why does Wilbur escape?

A: he is bored with his small world

Q: Why does he return home?

A: he is frightened and tired and realizes he's too young to be on his own

Mother Goose Rhymes | "Humpty Dumpty"

Rationale: We provide you with a Mother Goose rhyme each week to enrich your children's education. Throughout life, your children will encounter references to these basic rhymes and exposure to them embraces our cultural heritage. So read and enjoy them!

Humpty Dumpty sat on a wall,
Humpty Dumpty had a great fall.
All the king's horses and all the king's men
Couldn't put Humpty together again.

Day 3

History/Geography

The Usborne Book of Peoples of the World | pp. 22–23

Your book states that Hinduism is the world's oldest religion. Many scholars question this assertion.

Hinduism promotes the worship of many gods (polytheism), as well as pantheism (the idea that god is [or the gods are] everywhere and in all that exists; i.e., god is [or the gods are] an impersonal divine force). Evidence for this kind of perspective can be traced back to the very earliest human civilizations.

However, worship of one god (monotheism) also can be traced to the beginnings of human cultural development. In short, two views of the development of religion are at odds here. An evolutionary view of religion traces religious origins to forms of worship such as polytheism, while the view known as original monotheism sees religion originally developing from the worship of one god or supreme being, then becoming diversified into religions such as polytheism.
